OutOf Stock Notification

BY

The OutofStockNotification module allows you to send a notification when a product is in stock, and also when there is any discount on the product. The customer can send a request to the product detail page when the product is in stock, and if any discount on the product customer will get a notification via email for product.

1. Introduction and Purpose

The Out-of-Stock Notification module enables customers to subscribe for email notifications when a product becomes back in stock or when a discount is applied. Customers can request notifications directly from the product detail page, ensuring they are informed as soon as the product is available or offered at a reduced price. This module helps improve customer engagement and increases the chances of converting missed sales into successful purchases.

2. How to enable the extension?

Once you get the license key (refer to the installation guide), you must navigate to the Instagram Feeds section under Stores > Configuration > WebbyTroops.
